

THE CONCEPT OF "WERKSTATT-TAGE"

For the second time the Theater der Jungen Welt in Leipzig, founded already 1946 and therefore one of the oldest theatres for young audiences in Germany, hosts the biannual "Werkstatt-Tage der Kinder- und Jugendtheater" ("Workshop Days of Children and Youth Theatre") from September 30 through October 4, 2008.

The "Werkstatt-Tage" – a cooperation of Theater der Jungen Welt and ASSITEJ Germany – is a work meeting as well as a festival which presents 15 performances by 12 ensembles from 10 cities.

"New Plays", that's the motto of the "Werkstatt-Tage" 2008. The seven plays which were nominated for this year's meeting are not older than two years. And all four shows presented in the framework of "BOXENSTOPP Leipzig" ("PIT STOP Leipzig") – a new Playwright-Theatre-Project – are even not 'in the market' yet. In addition, a playwright's studio with ten authors from Switzerland, Netherlands and Germany is held during the "Werkstatt-Tage".

To look beyond the borders two international guest performances from Switzerland and Netherlands are invited and the hosting Theater der Jungen Welt presents two shows from its repertory. Discussions, readings, a critic's workshop and a party complement the programme.
